SUMMER SCHOOL at LUMS

This summer, the Centre for Continuing Education Studies (CES) at LUMS will be running a summer school for high school students.

Our courses, offered from a diverse range of disciplines, are designed to equip students with advanced learning skills and assist aspiring college applicants in preparing for the upcoming applications season. This program will further allow students to learn in an intellectually stimulating environment and experience the social and academic opportunities a college education has to offer.

SUMMER SCHOOL

- Writing School
  - Courses offered as a part of this school will help students polish their writing skills by familiarizing them with diverse genres of writing, including academic essays, fiction writing, and journalism, etc.

- Languages & Literature
  - This bucket will allow students to enroll in language courses ranging from Arabic to German, and immerse in the famous works of some of the most renowned authors of all time.

- Arts School
  - Our courses in performing and visual arts will allow students to develop an understanding of creative arts, refine their skills, and also create a portfolio for college applications.

- College Coaching
  - Our college coaching Workshops will guide students regarding the essential aspects of the college application process. Topics covered under this bucket will range from writing personal statements and resumes to developing effective learning techniques for a college education.

- LUMS Seminar Talks
  - Our seminars will introduce students to the various disciplines taught at LUMS. Accordingly, these sessions will center around dialogues and conversations that span our college classrooms, including an array of local and international issues that concern the society at large.

- Skill Building Courses
  - Courses offered as a part of this bucket will equip students with skills essential to their personal, educational, and professional development. These include classes on subjects ranging from graphic designing to data analytics and communication skills.
